

Arizona State Fair Sports and Amusements.

The High Schools will be represented this year at the Arizona State Fair as never before. There will be a series of football games pulled off in the infield every morning during Fair week. Phoenix, Tucson and Prescott have already agreed to participate.

A handsome loving cup will be awarded to the school winning the most games.

The games will be under the supervision and control of the executive committee of State High Schools Athletic Association. C. K. P'shon, superintendent of Boys Sports and Amusements, will represent the Fair.

Frank B. Thackery, superintendent of the Indian School at Sacaton, will have charge of Indian Day and Indian Sports. It is understood that Mr. Thackery will furnish one of the most unique and interesting programs that has ever been presented to the Fair. For many years he was an inspector in the Indian service travelling all over the southwest a countless number of times. He knows Mr. Indian from A to Izzard. He can look at things from the Indian point of view, and knows exactly what appeals to the red man. It will be worth a trip across the state to be at the fair on Indian Day this year.

The finest and most liberal running race program ever offered to the state Fair is being offered this year. Besides the regular program there will be hurdle races and all sorts of funny stunts. Relay races, pony races and High School horses galore.

The Red Rover.

The Red Rover makes another rich shipment of ore to the Copper Queen smelter at Douglas. The ore was extracted immediately above the water level, which is now standing at a depth of 350 feet. At present there is no attempt at pumping as the present machinery is not sufficiently powerful to continue doing the work. It is intended to install a larger hoist and also pumping plant sufficiently large to meet all requirements and when completed sinking will at once be commenced. The present shipment of ore is of excellent grade. Averaging 16 per cent in copper contents and 150 ounces of silver to the ton. However it is anticipated that the smelter sampling will prove even a better content than this. It is expected to continue these shipments regularly. The reports are that the mine is looking very promising indeed.—Phoenix Republican.

The Shattuck-Arizona will be working on its every level before the end of the month. They are now in the 200 with new development driving toward location of the big cave found on the 300 some weeks ago. The pump is ready to lower to the 900 and clearing of water will soon be under way here preparatory to development. The 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 900 levels will thus all be brought in action. It is not at all improbable that before Shattuck history is closed it will be written that they might have mined from the surface down had they known it, instead of going 700 feet to begin. The Shattuck is constantly earning increasing admiration as a wonderful mining property. In the matter of lead-silver shipments it is now awaiting the forwarding of new contract from the El Paso smelter. The new contract will give better terms than enjoyed previously. It is expected that around 100 tons per day will be shipped. This will return an average of 12¢ net, or something like 435,000$ per year.—New York Mining Age.

One of the most comfortable hotels in Los Angeles is the Hollenbeck, which has been the favorite headquarters of Arizona people for many years. The management caters to the business men, mining men, stock men and farmers. Ladies and children are made especially welcome and every care is taken to make their stay comfortable. The hotel is conducted on the European plan and operates a cafe that is one of the best in California with particularly reasonable prices. The Hollenbeck is conveniently located near the theatres and shopping center, and not far from the wholesale district and civic center. Cars to and from all depots, to and from all beaches and mountain resorts pass the Hollenbeck. Mr. Mitchell, who is known to very many Arizona people, is president and manager of the hotel company.
